We hope to leverage your experience to guide students through the goals, the challenges to meet them and their ideas for solutions. We don't want to restrict the potential paths that you might lead them towards.

If you have resources already that you'd like to share or run with the students please do bring them along.

We are also providing a suggested framework of questions to assist your role.

Conference Framework

This is a suggested time line, please feel free to shift these according to your groups, goals and personal ideas.

Suggested Framework To The Working Sessions

Draw/ Map/ Write

Can we explain what this goal means?

What is a world where this goal has been achieved look, feel, behave like?

What does this goal mean to you?

How will we know when the goal is achieved?

Suggested Framework To The Working Sessions

Research/Decide/Create

Who are the companies, charities, NGO's and community leaders working towards your goal?

Can we map out where the challenges are for individuals, communities, countries?

Can we create actions we can do as an individuals, communities, countries?

Can we find interesting statistics to show individuals, communities, countries?

Can we communicate these statistics/actions/needs as infographics?

Can we we identify individuals with the skills to help? What do their profiles look like? Where are they? Where will they be in 2030?

Plan a creative event that brings people together to focus on solving your goal for individuals, communities, countries.

Suggested Framework To The Working Sessions

Student Roles

We are all working together.

The students have chosen roles and goals, these are designed to support you as well as the students. The roles, global goals and ideas can overlap so you can direct students to distribute tasks evenly. If at any point you need support in managing this please let any member of staff know.

Student Roles

You can rely on your Ambassador to ask other groups about their progress, research and share your ideas.

You can rely on your Secretary General to keep time, manage resources and delegation of tasks.

You can rely on your Archivist to keep records of your progress, notes on future idea strands and past discussions.

You can rely on your Researcher to find facts, statistics and points to support your progress.

You can rely on your Lead Designer to turn progress into posters, turning discussions into designs and collating everything into creations.

Our Goals

We want to channel the creativity.

We want to have produced more ideas, discussions and possible solutions.

We want to create things to show to the world.

Tips.

- Share stories of your experiences in your career, school, work.
- Ask students what they like, what they want to do.
- Our students are an exciting, energetic and creative bunch however should anyone fail to treat you and their peers respectfully please notify a member of staff within the conference.
- Our students are not quite professionals yet they may need support in their research, organising their discussion and ideas.
- If possible please bring along a tablet or laptop to help assist your groups progress.
- Please be yourself and allow the kids to express themselves they will surprise you.
